

162

2021

Study Title

Clinical Practice Survey of Cryoprecipitate Utilization

Study Description

The objective of this study is to conduct a survey of multiple institutions to gather data regarding fibrinogen utilization and distribution. The survey will seek to determine clinical practice with regard to use of cryo AHF to replete fibrinogen, the role of viscoelastic testing and fibrinogen levels to guide its use. The increased demand for cryo AHF will be evaluated from both hospital and blood center perspectives

Study Status

Active

Publication Number

Teams

CTS

Study Leaders

Young
